

Maui Players Fought a Plucky Fight, But Oahuans Wore Them Down and Ran Up a Big Score

(From Monday Advertiser.) (By Herbert G. Lowry.)

Polo, the like of which has never been seen on the Hawaiian Islands, was played at Moanalua Field yesterday afternoon and when the final blast of the referee's whistle brought the groaning contest to a close, history had repeated itself and Oahu was once again a winner and holder of the Island championship, this time by a score of seven and one-quarter to two.

Well-matched men, game and gritty, were the blue and white of Oahu, and men tense of nerves and powerful of limb and body were the black and orange of Maui. Every inch of the way, first from one goal, then to the other, red and dashed these two men. Grimly, pluckily and aggressively they swung in and out of danger, fearlessly and determined.

"Spare no quarter" was the watchword of every player. No point of vantage did they overlook, nor any side of the ball did they neglect. Even in the face of defeat, cheerful words came from the vanquished, and like men they applauded the victory of their fortunate opponents.

When the struggle was at an end, slowly, but with heads erect, the beaten quiet rode from the field, followed by the cheers of the spectators, for a game and better set of poloists never measured mallets with equally as game and gritty an opposition team.

Under these men were ponies who seemed to realize that they, too, were factors in the game, and up matter how hard they were whipped, they showed that horses can be game and gritty and have a fighting spirit too.

Maui Won Toss. It was five minutes after three when the two captains, Frank Baldwin for Maui and Walter Dillingham for Oahu, flipped the coin for choice of field, and Maui won.

"We'll take downhill," spoke Captain Baldwin, for he had won the toss, and in ten minutes past these eight players had up to the center of the field and three seconds afterwards, the ball was in play.

As the clean white pellet came from the referee's hand, Harold Rice carried it toward the goal and Collins right behind him drove it farther toward Maui's mark. There then came a sharp zully one hundred feet from the goal and a well-placed shot by Castle carried the ball back toward Oahu's mark. It was only a momentary move for a backhanded stroke by Frank Baldwin sent the ball skimming toward the waiting Fleming and a masterly stroke by Maui's hard riding and hard hitting back sent the pellet straight through the goals for the first goal of the game.

Fleming Scores Again. Laurence Heddington, who refereed an excellent game, was quick to action and again the ball was in play. Oahu took the new battered sphere and carried it almost to their goal, Dillingham, Castle and Sam Baldwin showing flashes of polo that stirred the blood and brought forth the hoars of countless machines and the cheers from a thousand throats.

The luck was against the blue and white, for a well-aimed drive by Macfarlane carried the ball within three feet of the goalpost, but to the left out of the danger zone for Maui.

Fleming, who played brilliant polo from start to finish, now took possession of the sphere and carried it to the center of the field. Dillingham and Baldwin tried to ride him off, but Fleming, on a game and gritty pony, Joe by name, lunged and shot the grip of a ball and shot to the right, driving the ball then toward Maui's goal with a true stroke. Down the field rode Fleming and in one minute and thirty-three and two-fifths seconds scored the second goal. With Maui scoring in this fashion supporters of Oahu showed a feeling of gloom and a shadow fell across the faces of those who were for the blue and white.

Oahu Comes Up Strong. Gameover and grit with the let-us-come-up-and-and spirit has won many a contest of polo in play. Oahu and when the Oahu contingency began to rush and tear after Maui, despite that two-goal lead, hope spring in the breasts of the home town folks.

Into the fray went the Oahuans with two minutes and fifty seconds to play and amidst a volley of hurrahs and shrieks of wild applause, scored their first goal in lightning style.

Sam Baldwin took the toss, was placed by Walter Dillingham, and with the stroke of a master poloist shot the ball straight through the goal. Collins, Fleming and brother Frank tore after the hard riding No. 2 of the Oahu, but he outdistanced them and scored before they had overtaken him.

Here the whistle blew and the first period, and so ended, score: Maui, 2; Oahu, 1.

Second Period. With the ball again in play for the second goal, Sam Baldwin gave an exhibition of hard riding that brought the spectators to their feet and carried him round after round of applause. Dime Fortune was not with the Oahu, No. 2 of the Oahu, however, for his well-placed shot toward the goal missed by a foot.

Back and forth went the eight struggling men and each side came within an inch of scoring. With the ball dangerously near Maui's goal and Castle ready to follow a well-placed shot by Macfarlane, the whistle blew, ending the period, and the score still stood, Maui, 2; Oahu, 1.

With the blast of the whistle for the third period Oahu took the field with renewed vigor and after several minutes of scoring, Sam Baldwin, following a well-placed stroke by Macfarlane and Dillingham, shot home a goal, ending the score in four minutes, Oahu three and one-quarter to two.

With the breaking of the fourth period Maui seemed to lack speed as well as the dash and vim of the opening periods, while on the other hand Oahu

Up and down the field raced the men and ponies and after two minutes and forty-five seconds of play Macfarlane shot the fifth goal of the game and Oahu was in the lead. After this goal, and while in a skirmish, Dillingham played a safety stroke to prevent Fleming from scoring. A minute after the period ended. Score—Oahu, 2-3; Maui, 0-2.

Victory Is Assured. When the fifth period was over all hope had fled from the supporters of the black and gold, for in this chukka Oahu scored three goals, Macfarlane performing the first trick in one minute, thirty-three and one-half seconds. Sam Baldwin scored for the second and Oahu was in the lead. After this goal, and while in a skirmish, Dillingham played a safety stroke to prevent Fleming from scoring. A minute after the period ended. Score—Oahu, 2-3; Maui, 0-2.

KAUAI BUSINESS MEN AWAKENING

Rev. J. M. Lydgate of Lihue Tells of Organization Work on Garden Island.

Not to be outdone by Hilo with its "See Hawaii First," the business men of Kauai have determined to get together and further the interests of that island in every way possible. With this end in view they have organized the Kauai Chamber of Commerce. The Rev. J. M. Lydgate of Lihue, who is in Honolulu is enthusiastic over the formation of the organization.

The officers of the new chamber of commerce are H. Rohrer, president; E. Mablum, treasurer, and Ernest Behr, secretary. These with four other members will constitute the board of directors.

Committees will be appointed on finance, agriculture, commerce, transportation, promotion and entertainment. The broadest lines of membership have been adopted," said the Rev. Mr. Lydgate, "and the movement promises to be very popular. Steps will be taken immediately to promote the interests of Kauai in every way possible.

The committee composed of the officers will come as a special delegation to the annual convention of the chambers of commerce in Honolulu next month.

The meetings of the Kauai Chamber of Commerce will be held every alternate month.

AN OLD DISPUTE IS NEARING SETTLEMENT

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.) HILO, August 23.—The acquisition of the land on the main side of Front street, which has been held for many years under a disputed claim arising with the Conn estate, is finally to be settled.

At least, the administration has given its assurance to this effect, for about the fifth time. It is added that no compromise will be considered.

These glad tidings were brought to Hilo by Deputy County Attorney Reem, who, during his recent stay in Honolulu, had several conferences with the attorney general on the question. At the first of these the attorney general was undecided as to what he would do, but in the second he stated that, subsequently to the first interview, he had talked the matter over with the governor and had been instructed by the executive to take action to secure title to the disputed land for the Territory.

This will be done by the filing of a suit for the registration of title by the Territory. This suit will be filed as soon as the department can secure the names of the property owners and adjoining property owners involved.

Then also looked into the matter of the Pihonua waterhead condemnation suit, which has been pending for months. The proposition was made that the county and the Hawaiian board should agree to accept as final the appraisal made by the board of appraisers, but it seems likely that the county attorney's department will decline to fall for quite as raw a proposition.

Walter Dillingham, who saw England and America battle for the Hurlingham cup, was enthusiastic over the way both teams had played and it was his candid opinion that each had performed just as well as did either England or America when they fought for the international title.

Robert W. Shingler spoke enthusiastically of the manner in which both teams played.

"Of course it was a pleasure to me to see Oahu a winner, but all the credit in the world is due the Maui boys. They played a clean and gritty game. I want to go on record as saying that I think our horses were just as good as theirs, every bit, and in some cases we had superior mounts. One thing against the Maui men was the weakness of the field to them. They did not have as good an acquaintance with the ground as did Oahu, but at that I do not think any team in the world had a license to beat Oahu."

Robert Horner and Dr. C. B. Cooper, who were the judges and who are both keen judges of horses, were loud in their praise of the men and just as loud in their expressions of admiration for the horses.

"Some of those little fellows," said Horner, "were in that game heart and soul and never let it be said that a horse is not game unless he can't take as much interest in contest as can a man. All I hope it that the All-Hawaii and the Picked Team play as good a contest next Tuesday."

A good crowd, including hundreds of well known people were on the sidelines and the auto park was filled with automobiles when the game commenced, while several hundred people were scattered about the field.

As one spectator put it, there was a million dollars worth of autos on the grounds and a hundred thousand dollars worth of ponies in the fray.

As good a game as this one was and as good as previous ones have been, polo enthusiasts are looking forward to the one on Tuesday when the All-Hawaii team, composed of Arthur Rice at No. 1, Harold Rice at No. 2, Walter Dillingham at No. 3 and Frank Baldwin at No. 4, will meet the Picked Team, composed of Arthur Rice at No. 1, Arthur Collins at No. 2, Charles Rice at No. 3 and Dave Fleming at No. 4, with Walter Macfarlane in reserve.

STARTLING CREED TOLD IN COURT

Dupes of Ezera Testify in a Divorce Action—Free Love Boldly Described.

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.) WAILUKU, Maui, August 22.—As an echo of the startling new creed introduced by the "Rev." Ezera, some years ago, once more comes the much-tried divorce case of Moses Kaunimaha against his spouse. This affair has been hanging around the courts for years. Divorces have been granted—only to be reversed. Suits for alimony and, later on, suits to stop alimony have been brought, but that any interpreter of the new doctrine, Ezera, has never appeared in court. The troubles of his congregation appear to have subsided like water off a duck. "Nothing doing" in the court line for the "apostle" who got his "instructions" direct from God. Ezera is content to run along without troubling himself about the marital pluck of his women followers.

The latest attempt at court work was carried out in the circuit court, Wailuku, this week. Moses Kaunimaha sued for divorce on grounds of desertion and cruelty. He was represented by B. H. Case and Eos Vincent. The wife was represented by A. D. Larnach and E. R. Bevins.

Some startling evidence was given during the trial and the husband alleged that, through the influence of Ezera, his wife had invited him to do the "brother and sister" stunt and to abandon any idea of their being married. Moses did not care for that kind of a program, and some years ago, he sued for a divorce. Through much litigation Moses eventually found out that although he had been divorced in one court, the higher tribunal declared him still a married man. As Moses was paying alimony to the woman, whom he regarded as his ex-wife, he soon saw that, if she were still really his wife, no alimony could be demanded. Then he brought suit for divorce again and the case was tried before Judge Kingsbury.

According to the testimony, Ezera seems to have a peculiar way of instructing his female followers, the main idea being to deliver lectures on orthodox while in the "temple" led with three women at a time. The led is the main furnishing
